Course Description

A survey of the social, political, economic, cultural, and intellectual history of the United States from pre-Columbian era to the Civil War/Reconstruction period. All material in the textbook/lectures is testable and it is your responsibility to read the chapters.

Course Student Learning Outcomes

1. Create an argument through the use of historical evidence.
2. Analyze and interpret primary and secondary sources.
3. Analyze the effects of historical, economic, cultural, and global forces on this period of United States history.

Course Prerequisites:

Pass Reading on THEA, Compass, or other state-approved alternate test.

Course Assignments:

Tests & Final Exam: There will be a total of four tests- All exams will cover four chapters, and Test 4 is the Final which is not a Comprehensive (All Chapters) version. It is imperative that students complete the reading assignments in order to be better prepared for the exams. The tests will consist of 25 multiple choice questions valued at 4 points each. The exam will only be available for a specified time period and once you start the test you will have 1 hour to complete it. The exams can be taken up to three times, and the highest grade of the three attempts will be recorded. This is an open-book test and all test questions will come out of the textbook.

Extra Credit: In this age of technology it is imperative that college students master the art of internet research, therefore for every exam up to ten extra credit points can be earned if the student submits to me a summary describing a website they found pertinent to the test material- DO NOT use websites such as Wikipedia, Dictionary.com, etc.- Actually research a site related to the material. The assignment should include: 1) URL, 2) date accessed, 3) author and/or organization that maintain the site, and 4) 2-3 sentences on your opinion of the webpage. The extra credit assignment due dates are posted, and only one extra credit assignment can be turned in per test. The assignment must be posted in the proper Discussion Board thread.

Discussion Posts (DP): The student will be responsible for posting eight original posts and eight on the discussion board for this course (Posts and replies need to be properly cited). Original posts must be at least 250 words in length and should respond to the questions posed for each section. Additionally, all students are required to respond to one of their classmate's original post- The reply should be at least 100 words in length and cannot simply be "I agree" or "Great comment" statements. When posting/replying, it is ok to disagree with someone's comments (that is what higher education is all about), although please be considerate and polite to your fellow classmates- Rude and derogatory comments will not be tolerated and will result in 0 points for that assignment.

Historical Event Analysis (HEA): The student will be responsible for submitting an analysis on their chosen event in American History before the year 1877 (Examples of events: Civil War, Seneca Falls Convention). HEAs should be at least 500 words (See breakdown below; 400 HEA and 100 reply), and are at a "First Come First Serve" basis meaning that no two students can complete their analysis on the same event- It is the student's responsibility to ensure their post is not the same as one that has already been posted. I HIGHLY recommend you email me your chosen historical event so I can make sure it is appropriate for this course, and so I can place it on the "taken" list (Under the "Course Information" tab) so other students do not take your event. The HEA will be at least 500 words, and will be graded based on the following criteria:

- 1) Summary and significance- In at least 250 words give me a brief summary of your event and its significance (40%).
- 2) Primary Source- List one primary source for your event. A primary source is a document or object that was created during your event's time era (Eye-witness/first-hand account). Examples of primary sources are: newspaper articles from that time era, interviews or diary entries from people who experienced or witnessed your chosen event (20%).

3) Secondary Source- List one secondary source for your event. A secondary source is an analysis of a primary source, typically written/created after the event has occurred by people who were not involved in the event you chose (Second-hand account). Examples of secondary sources are: textbooks, commentaries someone's original work (20%)?

4) Reply to at least one of your classmate's post- The reply should be at least 100 words (20%).

Optional Movie/Book Review (MBR): The student will be responsible for submitting a movie or book review on a topic pertinent to American History until 1877 - Students should e-mail the instructor to have their movie/book approved (When you submit your movie/book for approval I need the title, year made/written, and author/director). Movie/books are at a "First Come First Serve" basis meaning that no two students can complete their review on the same movie/book- It is the student's responsibility to ensure their post is not the same as one that has already been posted. I HIGHLY recommend you email me your chosen movie/book so I can make sure it is appropriate for this course, and so I can place it on the "taken" list (Under "Course Information" tab) so other students do not take your movie/book. The review will be at least 500 words, and will be a brief summary but mainly your opinion of a movie/book chosen by the student- It will be graded on topic, content, and grammar. You will post your Movie/book review (Properly cited) at the designated discussion post thread- No replies are required. Below are some items of consideration to help your grade:

- 1) Was your review mostly a summary? If it was it should have been mostly your opinion.
- 2) Was your review at least 500 words in length?
- 3) Did you cite your assignment (Title of movie/book, director/author, year published/made)?
- 4) Did you proofread (How many typos, etc. did your assignment contain)?

- getting "kicked off" of the system during tests or quizzes;

Dropping a Course or Withdrawing from College

Students wishing to drop a non-developmental course may do so online using WebAdvisor, at the Wrangler Express, or Registrar’s Office. A student wishing to drop a developmental course or withdraw from college should obtain a drop or withdrawal form from the Wrangler Express or the Registrar’s Office. Students are encouraged to consult with instructors prior to dropping a class. Students may not completely withdraw from the college by use of the Web. Students must drop a class or withdraw from college before the official withdrawal date stated in the class schedule. Students who are part of the Armed Forces Reserves may withdraw with a full refund if the withdrawal is due to their being ordered into active duty. A copy of the student’s orders must be presented to the Registrar’s Office at the time of the withdrawal. For details, please contact the Office of the Registrar. No longer attending class does not automatically constitute withdrawal from that class, nor does a student’s notification to an instructor that the student wishes to be dropped. Failure of a student to complete the drop/withdrawal process will result in a grade of “F.” (Source: Odessa College Catalog of Courses 2012-2013, page 36)
