Getting Started on Your Legal Matter

Legal Insurance

When you have a legal situation, you can get started on your legal matter in your online account or by calling Customer Care.

Legal Insurance

You will answer a few questions to help us confirm coverage and we will provide a CaseAssist confirmation outlining your coverage details and contact information for network attorneys matched to your legal matter.

Connect with an Attorney

To begin, select an attorney's profile to view their complete profile details. Contact the attorney(s) directly and provide your CaseAssist confirmation number # [redacted], as this helps them access your legal insurance details.

Attorneys may need time to get back to you, so please allow a few business days for a response. You have the option to reach out to more than one attorney to explore the best fit and confirm availability.

Most attorneys can work with you in person, over the phone or virtually, so you can determine how to best work together.

The main content area features a yellow circular image of a woman and a child. Below the image, the text reads: "It's Your Identity - Keep It to Yourself. Millions of Americans become victims of identity theft annually. Be ahead of scams and ID theft with resources from our Learning Center." A table of contents on the left lists: 1. Be Proactive and Protect Against Identity Theft, 2. See an Overview on Identity Theft, and 3. Identity Theft Resources. The main article title is "Be Proactive and Protect Against Identity Theft". The text explains that identity theft can happen in many ways and provides options for victims, including reaching out to Customer Care at 855-733-3710. It also mentions a disruptive, damaging cyberattack where a malware program tricks users into downloading it to reveal their online passwords.

The screenshot shows the ARAG website header with the logo and navigation links: Plan Coverage, DIY Tools, Additional Services, Account, and Log Out. The main content area features a yellow circular image of a man and a child playing with blocks. Below the image, the text reads: "Financial Fitness Starts Here. Our financial needs will change as life keeps moving forward - it's a given. That's why you can work with a financial advisor to help you like a plan to handle common issues like debt management, student loans and saving for a home." A yellow button labeled "Start Planning" is visible. A table of contents on the left lists: 1. Online Financial Planning and Education Services, 2. Get Legal Help from a Network Attorney, 3. Protect Your Financial Assets, and 4. Learn More About Financial Issues. The main article title is "Online Financial Planning and Education Services". The text describes "Debt and Budget Coaching" where a counselor helps explore the option of a Debt Management Plan (DMP) for repayment of unsecured debts, which may offer lower interest rates, a cessation of certain fees and lower required monthly payments. It also mentions "Credit Report Review" where users can have their credit report reviewed and get answers about credit scoring, building a strong credit history and learn how to.
